

Immediate Release

28th September 2007

Soames Opens New Laboratories at the Queen Victoria Hospital in East Grinstead

Nicholas Soames today opened two new laboratories at the Blond McIndoe Centre in East Grinstead.

Nicholas Soames said; “All of us who live in Mid Sussex and particularly those in East Grinstead are immensely proud of the work done at the Queen Victoria Hospital and the remarkable work done in the science particularly of wound healing and the treatment of burns at the Blond McIndoe Centre.

“This charitably funded organisation is at the very cutting edge of global science in this field and I was proud to open two new laboratories to expand this brilliant work.”

-ends-

Notes

<http://www.qvh.nhs.uk/>